Schweder: We are moving from retirement living to wellness communities...

Schweder claimed that Baby Boomers have 73 per cent of all the economic power in the world, which is helping fuel the growth of wellness communities. "The world gets older and older, but people are retiring younger," said Schweder.

Also, he said the concept of retirement – and old age itself – is being reshaped by a record number of Baby Boomers who are approaching retirement age.

"The effects of this demographic shift are being felt globally," he said.

Schweder claimed that Baby Boomers have 73 per cent of all the economic power in the world, which is helping fuel the growth of wellness communities.

"Retreat communities, living communities and wellness communities are starting to merge," he said. "There's aspects of each one in each one."

Add to that the fact that more and more people live in multigenerational homes, and that there is a trend of smaller developments, healthy real estate, active living, and communities with nature preserves and extended golf communities, and wellness communities make sense.

"The world's economy is becoming more collaborative – oriented toward what many call the "shareconomy,"" said Schweder. "In the future, many more people will be interested to live in communities."

Schweder detailed GOCO's upcoming wellness communities in Ubud, Bali, and at Glen Ivy Hot Springs in California.

The GOCO Retreat Ubud, due to open in 2017, will include both guestrooms and branded residences, along with a wellness restaurant, tea lounge, thermal bathing cafe, farm-to-table restaurant, cooking school, artists' studios, farm-to-table restaurant, and a wellness restaurant, tea lounge, thermal bathing cafe, farm-to-table restaurant, cooking school, artists' studios, and a wellness restaurant, tea lounge, thermal bathing cafe, farm-to-table restaurant, cooking school, artists' studios, and a wellness restaurant, tea lounge, thermal bathing cafe, farm-to-table restaurant, cooking school, artists' studios, and a wellness restaurant, tea lounge, thermal bathing cafe, farm-to-table restaurant, cooking school, artists' studios, and a wellness restaurant, tea lounge, thermal bathing cafe, farm-to-table restaurant, cooking school, artists' studios, and a wellness restaurant, tea lounge, thermal bathing cafe, farm-to-table restaurant, cooking school, artists' studios.
